John – Attached is a redraft based on the April 14th draft that you sent to me. In the attached I accepted all of your specific edits and then tried to address many of your comments and the items that we specifically discussed. So all the additions and deletions you see in the document are mine even though they all say “author”.

Let me know what you think. I am still reviewing some of the issues but I especially wanted to get you something to chew on regarding the property transfer issue.
